EXTEND SYSTEM CONVICT LABOR PRISON AUTHORITY TELL OF POSSIBILITIES.

Organization All That Is Necessary to Start Uprising, Say Reports.

U. S. ARMY AND NAVY READY

Government Officials Are Keeping in Close Touch With the Situation.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—The receiving of the delegates to the International Prison congress in the east room of the White House today, President Taft cautioned them against making prisons so comfortable as to furnish a motive for violating the law, and also warned against associating prisoners who were mere offenders with hardened lawbreakers.

The President said that sometimes when he had visited the prisons of this government he had thought they were stronger in theory than in practice. He expressed the hope, however, that this government now had prisons that illustrated at least some of the improvements that the prison congress recommended. He said that Attorney General Wickham, who had given some attention to the matter, would attend the conference to receive suggestions.

The opening session of the annual convention of the American Prison association was held tonight at which Amos W. Butler of Indianapolis, president of the organization, delivered his annual address, taking as his subject, "Convicts and Conservation." The American association will close its convention Saturday, and the opening session of the International Prison congress will be held Sunday afternoon. The convention will continue during the week.

For the last nine days the foreign delegates, accompanied by American criminologists, have been visiting American prisons.

President Taft's Address.

In his address, Mr. Butler emphasized the enormous waste of convict resources now occurring in many parts of the United States through keeping prisoners in idleness or but partially employing them.

Mr. Butler stated that no present system of prison labor is in all important respects successful. He advocated the extension of the system of state farms now profitably conducted in the south. "Whenever a new prison is to be constructed the authorities should buy ample land upon which to grow food for the prisoners, and to employ them in the work of raising it."

"Do we even in a faint way estimate the possibilities of the employment of persons in many lines of conservation of the water, the soil, and the forests? We have indications, not only from Michigan City and from Bridgeport, Mass., of what can be done in the reclamation of land, but from European experience also in suggestive agricultural prisons having been established in England, New South Wales, Prussia, Austria, Hungary, Switzerland, France, Russia and Belgium. European labor colonies have much to teach us."

Vast Possibilities.

"We since prisoners make gain habitable the abandoned farms of Massachusetts and remove the boulders from the rich soil of Rhode Island, can they not reclaim the tide flats of New Jersey and the everglades of Florida? If prisoners build dikes in Europe and levees in Louisiana, why not elsewhere? In Europe the courses of streams have been changed, mountains tunneled and canals built by prisoners. In the great mountain districts of the United States, in the lands of disappearing timber and along our sandy shores, there are possibilities already without limit."

"Not all prisoners can be worked without the walls. In most prisons a majority cannot. But with selected prisoners under the right kind of supervision what could not be done? These suggestions provide for the very least competition with free labor, for doing something good at the state's expense."

$500,000 FIRE IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—A fire which started mysteriously in the Calumet Milling company's warehouse in the south side late tonight soon spread to the Glottfried Brewing company's plant, completely destroying it, with a loss of more than $500,000.

Cincinnati Has Branch Italian Secret Society

CINCINNATI, Sept. 29.—Administration a long oath of secrecy, an Italian told two members of the city detective department that a branch of the Camorra, the famous Neapolitan secret society, exists in Cincinnati.

Detectives who had tried to question the man concerning the standing of Joseph Laveria, an Italian found dying two days ago took the oath of secrecy and promised to protect him in what he knew of the Camorra. The detectives, as the Italian said, were ordered not to tell anyone of the existence of the society, and he had been told that he had been chosen to be a member.

CHOLERA IN TURKEY

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 29.—The cholera now has a firm hold in this city, with an average of a dozen new cases a day. In Trebizond the situation is more serious. The disease has spread so rapidly that the people are panic-stricken and are taking refuge in the hills.

Distinguished delegates of the Irish Nationalist party, who are attending the convention of the United Irish league of America, which adjourns today at Buffalo. Following the convention they will tour America to seek support for the home rule movement. From left to right, T. P. O'Connor, John E. Redmond, Joseph Devlin and Daniel Boyle, all members of parliament. Mr. O'Connor will go to Canada for a series of speeches, while the others will go to New York to address a meeting and will then leave on a visit to the larger cities of the east. They will meet Mr. O'Connor and all four will spend the limit of their time traveling around the country.

Brookins Makes New Continuous Flight Record, 187 Miles, and Is Awarded $10,000 Cash Prize

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 29.—Aviator Walter Brookins alighted successfully in the fair grounds here at 4:37 p. m. today, 7 hours 22 minutes out from Chicago, after having sailed his Wright biplane the 187 miles with only two stops.

They were at Gilman, Ill., 75 miles from Chicago at 11:30 a. m. and at Mount Pulaski, Ill., 142 miles from Chicago, at 3:20 p. m. The first stop was for water, oil and gasoline, the second for these supplies and also because his pump had broken and the engine had become hot.

Brookins, in his long sail, broke the American long distance continued flight record and thereby won the $10,000 prize offered by the Chicago Record-Herald.

As the aviator swept up out of a field at Mount Pulaski, one of the small rubber tired wheels of his machine struck a hummock and was wrenched off. Brookins, not knowing of the accident, rose to a height of 2,000 feet and, headed for Springfield, sailed away leaving the Illinois Central airplane special train far in the rear.

This was the second engine the aviator had left behind in the race. Engineer W. F. Burt who made the first attempt to defeat the air man had to give up the attempt at Clinton, Ill. Brookins reached the fair grounds eight minutes before the Illinois Central special train arrived at the station here. The total flying time was 7 hours 22 minutes for the 187 miles at an average of 30 miles an hour.

Brookins found some difficulty in alighting because of inadequate police protection at the fair ground. Although he arrived over the grounds at 4:22, it was five minutes later before he could land. The crowd surged about him threatening to crush the bird machine and Brookins was compelled to make a personal appeal to get the throng back. Asked about the flight, he said:

"Why, it was nothing only staying up that's all. It merely took time more than usual—and that's about the only difference from a practice flight. I knew I could make it."

"It was one of the prettiest flights I ever made. The country between Chicago and here is delightful. Everywhere I was flying low enough—and I went as low as 50 feet several times. I could see the people staring up at me from every acre almost. There must have been three-fourths of a million looking at me."

"My arms are tired, of course, and it was a strain because I had to watch all the while. But I am good for the same thing right now, if necessary."

Wilbur Wright's only comment was: "As the woman says, I told you so."

CANDIDATES PLEAD FOR QUICK ACTION

SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.

DENVER, Sept. 29.—A variation in the legislative program was furnished this morning when the members of the general assembly, convened in special session, held a conference with those named for state offices on the Democratic ticket. There were also present Chairman Bradley and Secretary Hume Lewis of the Democratic state committee and several committee men.

Congressman E. F. Taylor was also of the conference. The principal reason for calling the conference was to break the caucus of Democratic senators, which agreement has stood in the way of legislation throughout the special session. If the senators who make up the minority in that caucus can be furnished with a reason for holding it and re-establishing themselves in the right to vote as individuals for what they think is proper a primary election bill fashioned after the fancies of the house and therefore a direct primary bill may be enacted within the next few days. If that is done and the accompanying twin registration measure gets through also, then the legislature will be asked to adjourn sine die.

Candidates Are Anxious.

The candidates at the conference urged upon the legislature the necessity of passing the bills that pretend to enact the legislation demanded by the governor in his call for the special session. They entreated the legislature to pass them quickly and return to their homes. There was no plan suggested for getting away from the present difficulty of the deadlock.

When the candidates in turn were placed on the rack and asked if they would give any recognition to the third party movement started in Denver, they stated they had decided to act together. While no positive promise was made the understanding was advanced that the state candidates would not accept endorsement from the Citizens party. So strong was this done, without the making of any actual promises, that the legislature believe the Citizens movement will be practically outlawed by the state candidates.

Within the legislature the situation on the direct primary is fast approaching a crisis. The bill being now in conference at the hands of a committee that cannot agree on the matter at issue no further action can be taken until that committee reports its inability to agree. Those who oppose a direct primary are provided for in the original house bill are determined that no new committee shall be named on behalf of the senate that will unite in agreeing upon a recession from the senate convention feature subordinate.

ROOSEVELT PROUD OF LAST TROPHY

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Sept. 29.—Theodore Roosevelt returned early this evening from Saratoga with the scalp of the Republican old guard of New York state added to his big collection of trophies.

When he reached Troy, N. Y., last Monday on his way to Saratoga, he told the crowd at the station that he had returned from Africa with a lot of trophies, and that when he came back from Saratoga he would have some more. The colonel made good his word and is immensely proud of his new trophy to win which he was compelled to make one of the hardest fights of his life.

He expressed himself as well pleased with the results of the convention but had no other comment to make on anything related to politics.

The colonel took a train from Saratoga at 8 o'clock this morning. Reaching Pompey, Pa., at noon he attended a luncheon, drove two miles to the Dutchess county fair grounds, made a speech there and returned to the station in an hour and a half.

His Pompey speech contained no reference to politics except a repetition of his assertion that corruption must not be tolerated.

GIVE MORE DETAILS CAR REPAIR FRAUDS

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—A. C. Goodrich, a self-confessed "go-between," and Henry C. Ostermann, former president of the Ostermann manufacturing company vied with each other before Municipal Judge Bruggemeyer today in stripping bare the secrets of the alleged combination charged with swindling the Illinois Central railway by car repair frauds.

Goodrich described in detail methods that he said Illinois Central officials used to conceal their identity as stockholders in the Ostermann repair concern. In testifying yesterday, Ostermann had said that certain payments to the railroad officials were made by checks to Goodrich. When placed on the stand today Goodrich began his testimony at this point:

"The checks were made out in my name. Goodrich said Frank B. Hariman had asked me some time previously if I would agree to let him have checks made out in my name and accept certain payments for him. I agreed. I do not know what source the checks came from but I received a number of them. I know, however, that they were issued by this company of which I have been reading in the newspapers. I indorsed them and placed them to my private account in the First National bank."

Photographs of $1,000 worth of checks signed by E. H. Niles who is president of the Blue Island Car and Equipment company were then introduced by Attorney Fisher for the prosecution. Goodrich identified the indorsements on them as having been made by him. Niles went on the stand several days ago and testified that payments for Hariman were made to Goodrich. Most of the checks were dated on December 13, 1909.

The name of Ira G. Rawn, late president of the Motion railroad and former vice president of the Illinois Central was again brought into the proceedings when Goodrich testified that on December 13, 1909 he wrote a check for $10,000 to Ira G. Rawn, which was cashed by Rawn on December 21. The $10,000 check, he said, was in return for two $5,000 checks sent to Goodrich on December 13 and signed by Niles.

Ostermann was recalled after Goodrich had concluded his testimony. In connection with the formation of the Ostermann repair company, Ostermann testified that he had been issued and to whom.

New names of E. H. McQuinn, general superintendent of the Illinois Central, and of E. J. O'Brien, vice president of the Varco & Co. Manufacturing company, were mentioned by Ostermann in this connection.

First Pellagra Case in Colorado Found in Denver

DENVER, Sept. 29.—Denver has developed the first case of pellagra ever known in Colorado. A month ago it was announced that Colorado's climate, with its high altitude and the exact amount of moisture needed, was the only cure for this dreaded skin nerve and bone disease and now the appearance of a patient here has caused great interest in the members of the medical profession.

The patient, Aaron Quirk, is in the county hospital where a dozen or more of the leading physicians of the city are studying his case. Mr. Quirk has lived in Colorado 11 years. He is 35 years old and his condition is regarded as serious.

CROWDS HONOR J. B. STEPHEN

BIG RATIFICATION IN COLORADO CITY.

Republican Candidate for Governor Gives Short Talk. Orr Also Speaks.

Just a little friendly gathering of my fellow townsmen," is the way Senator John B. Stephen, Republican nominee for Governor, expressed himself regarding the reception and ratification meeting held in his honor last night in Mark's hall at Colorado City. The spacious hall was crowded during the entire evening, and the enthusiasm was greater than ever before shown at a meeting in that town. Again and again was Senator Stephen's name cheered as the next Governor of Colorado, and when the Scotch bagpipes began their music the entire assemblage rose to its feet and cheered him again and again. Postmaster John F. Morgan acted as chairman.

Senator Stephen spoke briefly to the people with whom he has been intimately associated as a railroad engineer, real estate man, president of the chamber of commerce and improvement society, mayor and councilman. The warm greetings of his friends proved too much for him, and he could not speak long, as a result of his emotion.

Values Their Friendship.

I prefer to retain your friendship than to hold the highest office in the state," he said. "But if I should be honored with this office, I will perform my duties in such a manner that there will be no blush of shame on the faces of any who voted for me. Democrats and Republicans alike, my fellow townsmen for 15 years, there shall always remain in my memory this night and my appreciation cannot be expressed."

James A. Orr of this city, nominee for congressman from the Second district, paid a glowing tribute to the sturdy Scot, who is destined to play the part of the broadest thinking and most representative Governor that Colorado ever had. Orr spoke of the loyalty and faith with which the people of Colorado have taken to him and will now follow Senator Stephen.

The hall was brilliantly lighted and the informal character of the meeting made it the more enjoyable. Flashes of light from the cameras and refreshments were served. Red fire along Colorado avenue in the vicinity of the hall added an enlivening touch to the affair, whose success was largely due to the efforts of John T. Morgan and George F. Geisler. More than 2,000 were in attendance.

The reception committee consisted of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. George F. Geisler, Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Schreiner, Mr. and Mrs. George J. Birdsell, the Rev. and Mrs. Duncan Lamont, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Roper, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Sheets, Dr. and Mrs. C. S. Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. Healy, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Sherman, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Taws, Mrs. M. T. Burwell, Anthony Bott and John McCosh.

GOVERNOR CARROLL NOT GUILTY OF LIBEL

DES MOINES, Ia., Sept. 29.—The jury in the libel case against Governor B. F. Carroll returned a verdict of not guilty tonight. Governor Carroll was placed on trial a week ago, charged with criminally libelling John Cornie, former chairman of the state board of control.

The governor, on May 24 authorized the publication in a Des Moines newspaper of an article declaring that Mr. Cornie had sold diseased cattle in the markets of Omaha that he had let state contracts without receiving estimates and that he had been unduly familiar with girls at the Mitchellville industrial school.

The one other feature of the afternoon was Gifford Pinchot's advocacy of a conciliatory program that will unite supporters of state and federal control in those things that are for the good of the people, but a strong federal supervision of those natural resources of which the big corporations are seeking to obtain control, and the ovation accorded him. Besides voicing his own well-known personal views, it was generally felt Mr. Pinchot brought a message from his former chief—Theodore Roosevelt.

ILLEGAL COINS ARE SEIZED BY SECRET SERVICE OPERATIVE

DENVER, Sept. 29.—A. G. Goddard, secret service operative, R. K. Goddard, today, set a large quantity of illegal gold coins made in California by a couple of Hebrew merchants, and which had been on sale by Cal. W. W. Ferguson and that it was to sell every state money. The coins were seized by the secret service operative.

It is the second seizure in California in a short time, and part of a plan inaugurated by the federal authorities to put the California money market out of business. The first seizure of $10,000 worth of illegal gold coins was made by the secret service operative in California. The second seizure was made by the secret service operative in California.

The bill introduced by Senator Gove, designed to insure bank deposits but in a different way from the pending bill, which is a copy of the Oklahoma and Texas laws, was approved. This bill was introduced by Senator Gove at the request of the state association.

CONCILIATORY PROGRAM IS URGED

Pinchot Advises Irrigationists to Join and Fight Common Enemy.

GIVEN A GREAT OVATION

Committee Report Favors Chicago for 1911 Congress and Indorses State.

PUEBLO, Sept. 29.—Recommendation of Chicago as the convention city for 1911 was tonight's forecast of the report that will be made by the committee on permanent organization of the Eighteenth National Irrigation congress tomorrow, together with a favorable report on the following officers:

President—R. E. Twitchell, New Mexico.

First Vice President—F. W. Fleming, Kansas City.

Second Vice President—L. Newman, Montana.

Third Vice President—A. G. Watson, Pueblo.

Fourth Vice President—John Fawcett, California.

Fifth Vice President—B. C. Buffum, Wyoming.

Secretary—Arthur Hooker, Spokane, Wash.

Foreign Secretary—E. McQuinn, Gray, New Mexico.

Even against these odds the California delegation tonight announced their refusal to consider the decision of the committee as final, and an appeal will be made to the congress in favor of Los Angeles on the ground that the irrigation congress should be held in some arid state.

The contest over resolutions closed today with retention of the principal recommendations as forecast in these dispatches last night, namely: Federal control of interstate waters, indorsement of the proposed bill authorizing in lieu of public lands in irrigation districts organized under state laws. Because the committee considered it extraneous matter, it refused to indorse either San Francisco or New Orleans for the Panama exposition for 1915.

Water Controversy Aired.

Colorado's controversy with New Mexico and Texas over state and federal control of waters of the Rio Grande was aired on the floor of the congress this afternoon, but that body reserved official judgment until tomorrow when the resolutions, a plank of which will refer to control of interstate waters will be considered. Action by the resolutions committee indicates that the congress will indorse federal control though assurance was given tonight that Colorado will present a minority report relating to this subject.

The one other feature of the afternoon was Gifford Pinchot's advocacy of a conciliatory program that will unite supporters of state and federal control in those things that are for the good of the people, but a strong federal supervision of those natural resources of which the big corporations are seeking to obtain control, and the ovation accorded him. Besides voicing his own well-known personal views, it was generally felt Mr. Pinchot brought a message from his former chief—Theodore Roosevelt.

Presented With "Big Stick."

The wave of enthusiasm and appreciation that swept the densely packed convention hall evidenced the popularity of the principles advocated as well as the temper of the great majority of delegates on this problem.

There were other spectacular moments one when C. A. Balch, in behalf of L. F. Cornwell of Pueblo, presented to Mr. Pinchot as trustee a gnarled "big stick" cut from the forests of Colorado studded with Colorado gems and precious metals, with the injunction to deliver it to Theodore Roosevelt "the man who is wise and strong enough to use it impartially for the benefit of all, the only man strong enough and gentle enough to use the big stick as a shepherd's crook."

Again when the Rio Grande controversy was aired.

EXTEND SYSTEM CONVICT LABOR

Organization All That Is Necessary to Start Up-Rising, Say Reports.

U.S. ARMY AND NAVY READY

Government Officials Are Keeping in Close Touch With the Situation.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—China is declared to be on the verge of another upheaval similar to the Boxer uprising and the lives of foreigners are in jeopardy. Recent advices from government officials in China express the belief that an outbreak at any time would not surprise them. The state department has instructed officials to maintain a close watch on the internal conditions.

All through the summer months there have been mutterings of discontent in some of the Chinese provinces due to the rice famine, dynastic difficulties and dissatisfaction over acts of the Peking government as to foreign investments in China.

Good harvests mitigated to some extent the gravity of the situation, but there is still a general feeling of unrest according to personal letters received here from men on duty in that quarter.

Army and Navy Prepared.

The army and navy are prepared for any emergency, but their readiness is solely a precautionary measure, it is said, and should not be taken as an indication of immediate danger.

Authentic advices from those charged with keeping in touch with the conditions indicate that the only thing lacking to parallel the present situation with that preceding the Boxer troubles, which drew into China the American forces as well as those of other nations, is the matter of organization and that it only needs a leader to effect that.

Every vessel in the Asiatic fleet, as well as the military forces at Manila, is prepared for almost instant action in the event the trouble breaks.

United States Minister Calhoun at Peking, who last May reported to the state department the generally disquieting anti-foreign and anti-American rumors is keeping in close touch with the situation there and the foreign consular body at Peking early in the summer emphasized to the secretary the importance of immediate protective measures.

BOSTON, Sept. 29.—No reports of unrest in China have been received recently at the headquarters in this city of the American board of commissioners of foreign missions.

The unrest in China in the belief of the American board officials is the result of a newly awakened national feeling among the Chinese people. The slogan of an ever-increasing element "China for the Chinese" has been heard throughout the empire and the anti-foreign feeling is not directed against the missionaries as Christians, but rather because they are foreigners.

CANDIDATES PLEAD FOR QUICK ACTION

SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.

DENVER, Sept. 29.—A variation in the legislative program was furnished this morning when the members of the general assembly, convened in special session held a conference with those named for state offices on the Democratic ticket. There were also present Chairman Bradley and Secretary Hume Lewis of the Democratic state committee and several committee members.

Congressman E. T. Taylor was also of the conference. The principal reason for calling the conference was to break the caucus of Democratic senators which agreement has stood in the way of legislation throughout the special session. If the senators who make up the minority in that caucus can be furnished with a reason for bolting it and re-establishing themselves in the right to vote as individuals for what they think is proper a primary election bill fashioned after the fancies of the house and therefore a direct primary bill may be enacted within the next few days. If that is done and the accompanying or twin registration measure gets through also then the legislature will be asked to adjourn sine die.

Candidates Are Anxious.

The candidates at the conference agreed upon the necessity of passing the bill that would prevent the legislature from being called by the governor in his call for the special session. They entreated the legislators to pass them quickly and return to their homes. There was no plan suggested for getting away from the present difficulty of the deadlock.

When the candidates in turn were placed on the rack and asked if they would give any recognition to the third party movement started in Denver, they stated they had decided to act together. While no positive promise was made the understanding was advanced that the state candidate would not accept endorsement from the Citizens party. So strong was this done about the making of an actual promise that the legislators believe the Citizens movement will be practically outlawed by the state and local dates.

With the legislators in this situation on the direct primary and registration bills, the Citizens party is now in a predicament. It has a committee that will meet after the legislature adjourns to discuss the matter. It has a committee that will meet after the legislature adjourns to discuss the matter.

ROOSEVELT PROUD OF LAT-EST TROPHY

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Sept. 29.—Theodore Roosevelt returned early this evening from Saratoga, with the scalp of the Republican old guard of New York state added to his big collection of trophies.

When he reached Troy, N. Y., last Monday on his way to Saratoga, he told the crowd at the station that he had returned from Africa with a lot of trophies, and that when he came back from Saratoga he would have some more. The colonel made good his word and is immensely proud of his new trophy to win which he was compelled to make one of the hardest fights of his life.

He expressed himself as well pleased with the results of the convention but had no other comment to make on anything related to politics.

The colonel took a train from Saratoga at 8 o'clock this morning. Reaching Poughkeepsie at noon he attended a luncheon and drove two miles to the Dutchess county fair grounds, made a speech there and returned to the station at 4 o'clock.

His Poughkeepsie speech contained no reference to politics except a repetition of his assertion that corruption must not be tolerated.

GIVE MORE DETAILS CAR REPAIR FRAUDS

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—A. C. Goodrich, a self-confessed "go-between," and Henry C. Ostermann, former president of the Ostermann manufacturing company vied with each other before Municipal Judge Bruggemeier today in stripping bare the secrets of the alleged combination charged with swindling the Illinois Central railway by car repair frauds.

Goodrich described in detail methods that he said Illinois Central officials used to conceal their identity as stockholders in the Ostermann repair concern. In testifying yesterday, Ostermann had said that certain payments to the railroad officials were made by checks to Goodrich. When placed on the stand today Goodrich began his testimony at this point:

"The checks were made out in my name. Goodrich said Frank H. Harrington had asked me some time previous to if I would agree to let him have checks made out in my name and accept certain payments for him. I agreed. I did not know what were the checks, but from I received a number of them. I know, however, that they were issued by this company of which I have been reading in the newspapers. I identified them and placed them in my private account in the First National National Bank."

Photographs of $1,000 worth of checks signed by F. H. Niles who is president of the Blue Island Car and Equipment company were then introduced by Attorney Fisher for the prosecution. Goodrich identified the endorsements on them as having been made by him. Niles went on the stand several days ago and testified that payments for Harrington were made to Goodrich. Most of the checks were dated on December 13, 1909.

The name of Ira G. Raw, late president of the Monon railroad and former vice president of the Illinois Central was again brought into the proceedings when Goodrich testified that in December 1909 he wrote a check for $10,000 to Ira G. Raw, which was cashed by Raw on December 13. The $10,000 check he said was in return for $1,000 checks sent to Goodrich on December 13 and signed by Niles.

Goodrich was called when Goodrich had read his testimony.

In connection with the formation of the Memphis Car Repair company, Ostermann told his story was issued and to be.

New names, those of H. H. McCort, general agent of the Illinois Central, and W. S. Kline, general superintendent of the Varian and Mississippi valley railroad were mentioned by Ostermann in this connection.

First Pellagra Case in Colorado Found in Denver

DENVER, Sept. 29.—Denver has developed the first case of pellagra ever known in this state. A month ago it was announced that Colorado climate with its long, hot, dry summer and the amount of moisture needed was the only one in the United States and here the case was found.

A patient here has caused great interest in the members of the medical profession.

The patient is a man named Quick. He is 40 years of age, where a dozen years ago he was a healthy man. He has been in the state hospital for a month. He is now in the state hospital for a month. He is now in the state hospital for a month.

CROWDS HONOR J. B. STEPHEN

BIG RATIFICATION IN COLORADO CITY.

Republican Candidate for Governor Gives Short Talk. Orr Also Speaks.

Just a little friendly gathering of my fellow townsmen," is the way Senator John B. Stephen, Republican nominee for Governor, expressed himself regarding the reception and ratification meeting held in his honor last night in Mark's hall at Colorado City. The spacious hall was crowded during the entire evening, and the enthusiasm was greater than ever before shown at a meeting in that town. Again and again when Senator Stephen came cheered as the next Governor of Colorado and when the Scotch bagpipes began their music the entire assembly rose to its feet and cheered him again and again. Postmaster John F. Morgan acted as chairman.

Senator Stephen spoke briefly to the people with whom he has been intimately associated as a railroad engineer, real estate man, president of the chamber of commerce and improvement society, mayor and councilman. The warm greetings of his friends proved too much for him, and he could not speak long, as a result of his emotion.

Values Their Friendship.

I prefer to retain your friendship than to hold the highest office in the state," he said "but if I should be honored with this office I will perform my duties in such a manner that there will be no blush of shame on the faces of any who voted for me. Democrats and Republicans alike, my fellow townsmen for 15 years, there shall always remain in my memory this night and my appreciation cannot be expressed."

James A. Orr of this city, nominee for congressman from the Second district paid a glowing tribute to the sturdy Scot, who is destined to play the part of the broadest thinking and most representative Governor that Colorado ever had. Orr spoke of the loyalty and faith with which the people of Colorado City have shown and will show for Senator Stephen.

The hall was brilliantly lighted and the informal character of the meeting made it the more enjoyable. Pink's orchestra played music, and refreshments were served. Red fire along Colorado avenue in the vicinity of the hall added an enlightening touch to the affair whose success was largely due to the efforts of John T. Morgan and George F. Geiger. More than 2,000 were in attendance.

The reception committee consisted of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. George F. Geiger, Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Schreiber, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Birdsell, the Rev. and Mrs. Duncan Lamont, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Roper, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Sheets, Dr. and Mrs. C. S. Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. Healy, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Sherman, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Taws, Mrs. M. T. Burwell, Anthony Bott and John McCoach.

CONCILIATORY PROGRAM IS URGED

Pinchot Advises Irrigationists to Join and Fight Common Enemy.

Committee Report Favors Chicago for 1911 Congress and Indorses State.

PUEBLO, Sept. 29.—Recommendation of Chicago as the convention city for 1911 tonight's forecast of the report that will be made to the committee on permanent organization of the Eighteenth National Irrigation engineers tomorrow together with a favorable report on the following officers:

President—R. E. Twitwell, New Mexico.

First Vice President—F. W. Fleming, Kansas City.

Second Vice President—L. Newman, Montana.

Third Vice President—A. G. Watson, Pueblo.

Fourth Vice President—John Fairweather, California.

Fifth Vice President—B. C. Buffum, Wyoming.

Secretary—Arthur Hooker, Spokane, Wash.

Foreign Secretary—E. McQueen, Gray, New Mexico.

Even against these odds the California delegation tonight announced their refusal to consider the decision of the committee as final and an appeal will be made to the congress in favor of Los Angeles on the ground that the irrigation congress should be held in some arid state.

The contest over resolutions closed today with retention of the principal recommendations as forecast in these dispatches last night, namely, Federal control of interstate waters, endorsement of the proposed bill authorizing inclusion of public lands in irrigation districts organized under state law. Because the committee had acted in an extraneous matter, it refused to endorse either San Francisco or New Orleans for the Panama exposition for 1915.

Water Controversy Aired.

Colorado's controversy with New Mexico and Texas over state and federal control of waters of the Rio Grande was aired on the floor of the congress this afternoon, but that body reserved official judgment until tomorrow when the resolutions, a plank of which will refer to control of interstate waters, will be considered. Action by the resolutions committee indicates that the congress will endorse federal control though assurance was given tonight that Colorado will present a minority report relating to this feature.

The one other feature of the afternoon was Gifford Pinchot's advocacy of a conciliatory program that will unite supporters of state and federal control in these things that are for the good of the people, but a strong federal supervision of those natural resources of which the big corporations are seeking to obtain control, and the ovation accorded him. Besides voicing his own well-known personal views, it was generally felt Mr. Pinchot brought a message from his former chief—Theodore Roosevelt.

Presented With "Big Stick."

The wave of enthusiasm and applause that swept the densely packed convention hall evidenced the popularity of the principles advocated as well as the temper of the great majority of delegates on this problem.

There were other spectacular moments one when C. A. Ballreich, in behalf of L. F. Cornwall of Pueblo, presented to Mr. Pinchot as trustee a gnarled "big stick" cut from the forests of Colorado, studded with Colorado gems and precious metals with the injunction to deliver it to Theodore Roosevelt. "The man who is wise and strong enough to use it impartially for the benefit of all, the only man strong enough and gentle enough to use the big stick as a shepherd's crook."

Again when the Rio Grande controversy was discussed.

GOVERNOR CARROLL NOT GUILTY OF LIBEL

DES MOINES, Ia., Sept. 29.—The jury in the libel case against Governor D. F. Carroll returned a verdict of not guilty tonight. Governor Carroll was placed on trial a week ago, charged with criminally libeling John Cornie, former chairman of the state board of control.

The governor on May 4 authorized the publication in a Des Moines newspaper of an article declaring that Mr. Cornie had sold diseased cattle in the markets of Omaha that he had let state contracts without receiving estimates and that he had been unduly familiar with girls at the Mitchellville industrial school.

Opposing Bill Pending in Legislature.

The Colorado Bankers association meeting in annual convention here went on record today as opposed to the bank guaranty law pending in the state legislature, as a menace to the banking business. The bill introduced by Senator Dove, designed to insure bank deposits but in a different way from the pending bill, which is a copy of the Oklahoma and Texas laws, was approved. This bill was introduced by Senator Dove at the request of the state association.

Judge Chambers will leave Washington for Denver early next week.

Illegal Coins Are Seized By Secret Service Operative

DENVER, Sept. 30.—Government Secret Service Operative R. K. Goddard raided the base of the state house today, seized a large quantity of illegal gold coins made in California by a couple of Hebrew merchants, and which had been on sale by Col. W. W. Ferguson and threatened to arrest every state house employee found with the sale if any more of the coins were disposed of.

It is the second seizure in Colorado in a short time, and part of a plan suggested by the local secret service people to put the California coins out of business and prevent the further sale of the coins. The first raid at Hamilton square in a large city are grabbing the coins. The coins are being sold at a profit of $100,000. The coins are being sold at a profit of $100,000.

MYSTIC ROLLWRIGHT STONES
Old Superstitions That Surround These Giant Rocks.
Letter From a Traveler in England to the Atlanta Constitution.
William and I went to Salisbury and, after seeing the cathedral (built in early English style) we took the train to the village of Almsbury, and a short drive to Stonehenge, the large, wide view, and is, indeed, very impressive. It is no wonder that the people in the region of the piles of stones are superstitious. I am sure I would be. In fact, it is easy for me to enter into anything of that sort, and nothing would please me better than to live among the people for a day and most impressive of the prehistoric stone piles. Situated on a height, as are all these piles, it commands a view of the surrounding country.

When we were in Warwickshire we went to Chipping Norton and took a drive up to the Rollwright Stones. The old woman in the gate house seemed to be the gate (these things are mostly under protection of the government to prevent destruction) was quite laconic. When we asked her how many there were of the stones, she said: "Well, you know they are stones and you can never count them twice alike. I've tried it and I can't make it out the same way twice. It's 30 and then again it's 31, and I just can't tell. Last summer I went on to tell, there was a professor and his wife came on to Oxford, and stayed over night with us to get up at midnight and go to the stones. It was a midnight walk, and about 11 o'clock they were up and wanted me to go with them. They said that there was a hole in one of the stones, they said, where you could see the stars at midnight on that one night of the year. They asked me if I had been to it, and I told them I had been to it. Then they asked me if I didn't believe it. I couldn't believe it. I could not say as I did, nor could I say as I did. However, I went with them, sure enough just at midnight. There was a light that came out of the hole. Not to say a big light, but it kept getting bigger and bigger until the whole sky was lit up, and then it went away again, and the hole was dark again. I did not see anything. I really don't know if I was here at the right time. The mystery would unfold for me, I think, to be some sort of thing at all of these stones.

THE LAST OF THE MOHEGANS.
Remnant of Fast Dwindling Connecticut Tribe Holds Annual Wigwam.
From the New York World.
MOHEGAN Conn.—The remnant of the Mohegan tribe of Indians, once owners of the region hereabouts, held their fiftieth annual wigwam here recently.

For the occasion the young men interlarded the supple branches of white birches into a leafy tent wherein was sold for the benefit of the little church on the reservation articles of handiwork of the tribe. Other muscular halfbreeds pounded the fragrant sweet corn which had been dried and put in a large pot of beans. There was also a round of meat made in a time honored from kettle heated over a big fire in the open. Ancient bead and basket work was displayed on the tables of the wigwam, as was the regulation supply of fine needlework aprons, dollies, enter pieces, bureau covers and lunch cloths of all superior workmanship for their Indian women who are skilled in domestic arts. There was also a showing of window shades, exhandis and the like which for generations have been carved by members of one family.

Just how many years longer the traditional wigwam will be continued is a question. For half a century it has been the big event in Indian affairs here, but with the passing of the present generation the younger braves and squaws may not take the pride in displaying their skill at handicraft as did their parents or the sale may become a typical church fair held indoors instead of on the summit of the breezy hill overlooking the River Thames whereon birch canoes made noiseless trips long before the white settlers of Norwich emigrated from old Saybrook in 1639.

MINERS TAKE A RADICAL STAND FAVOR STATE CONTROL WATER POWER.

Tribute Paid to Pinchot, but Roosevelt Is Scored by Delegate.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 29.—The American Mining congress placed itself on record today as opposed to the Roosevelt and Pinchot conservation policies, and by a vote that virtually was unanimous, declared in favor of state control of water power and all other natural resources as against federal control.

As indicative of the attitude and sentiment of the delegates in the matter of national conservation of natural resources, the congress accepted a report of the committee on Alaska mining laws in which L. R. Glavin, the land office special agent dismissed by Secretary Ballinger, was attacked, and applauded a delegate who denounced Colonel Roosevelt's attitude on conservation.

A Tribute to Pinchot.
This delegate, E. A. Wright, of Seerlight, Nev., paid tribute to Gifford Pinchot as an honest and sincere man. But he added that the same could not be said of many of the other prominent conservationists, chief among them being "A recent occupant of the White House, who, instead of conserving federal revenues, raised government expenditures to an amount that equaled each year the entire amount of the national debt and made the presidential office cost the people $125,000 a year."

The proconservation delegates began losing heart before the resolutions committee submitted its report, and when it was read and showed that the committee had gone much further than anyone expected in declaring for absolute state control, they backed down entirely, and but one or two feeble protests were raised against the adoption of the report.

Home Rule for Alaska.

Next to the state conservation stand to which the resolutions pledged the congress, greatest interest was aroused by the report of the Alaska mining laws committee, which advocated immediate opening of the vast coal fields beyond the Arctic circle, denounced the proposed leasing system as confiscatory and unjust to legitimate claimants and declared for more "home rule and less interference from Washington in the affairs of the northern territory." A land court, which is said to have the endorsement of President Taft, as favored by the committee, which registered its objection to the federal land office acting in the "triple role of detective, prospector and judge" in the matter of coal claims.

Referring to the activities of the land office agents, the report said that many of the special agents had not visited Alaska, but had written their reports on Alaska in Seattle, and stated that "It might be well if there were generally known that special agents L. R. Glavin and Horace T. Jones, whose attacks on the interests and integrity of Alaskans have been so widely quoted have never been within 500 miles of the coal fields of Alaska."

Other government agents, the report continued, "would not recognize a coal mine if they were transported to it in a palace car."

The congress elected the following five of nine directors tonight:

John Dern, Salt Lake City, one year. Dr. E. C. Buckley, Rolla, Mo., and E. C. Montgomery, Los Angeles, two years.

C. A. Perlow, Berkeley, Cal., and L. W. Powell, Tucson, Ariz., three years.

The opinion was generally expressed tonight that Mr. Dern will be chosen president of the board.

R. I. DEMOCRATS AFTER CANNON AND BALLINGER

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 29.—Candidates for the five state offices and for representatives from the two congressional districts were nominated by the Democrats today in the state and congressional conventions and a platform assailing the tariff, Cannonism and the retention of Secretary Ballinger in the cabinet was adopted. The ticket follows:

Lieutenant Governor—Dr. Phillip E. Clarke, Newport.

Secretary of State—Alberic Archambault, Warwick.

Attorney General—John I. Devlin, Providence.

General Treasurer—Tristram D. Babcock, Westerly.

Representative, first district—George E. O'Shaughnessy, Providence.

Representative, second district—Thomas F. Conner, Cranston.

The convention also pledged the Democratic candidates for the general assembly to support Judge Arthur I. Brown as a successor to United States Senator Aldrich.

MOTHER OF RICHARD HARDING DAVIS DIES
NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Word was received today of the death of Mrs. Richard Harding Davis, mother of Richard Harding Davis, the novelist.

A SENSATIONAL RAID ON LARGE NEW YORK FIRM

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Following one of the most sensational raids ever engineered by federal authorities in this city, directed today against the firm of H. H. Scheffels and company, curb brokers in Broad street, members of the company including B. H. Scheffels, its president, were held in heavy bail this evening by United States Commissioner Skidde for hearing on October 2 on a charge of using the mails to defraud.

Tonight search is being made by the police and by government inspectors, for George Graham Rice, whose real name is said to be Simon Herzog, the originator of the race track bet tipping system, who is declared to be the real head of the concern.

At the time of the raid here a announcement was made from Washington that warrants had been issued for the managers of the company's branch offices in Boston, Providence, Philadelphia, Detroit, Chicago and Milwaukee.

According to agents of the department of justice, the Scheffels company has been engaged in promoting the sale of mining securities of doubtful value in all parts of the country. Estimates of the firm's dealings are placed as high as $5,000,000.

The seven men arraigned here are: R. H. Scheffels, Charles F. Balster, secretary of the company; George T. Sullivan, Clarence McCormack, John Delaney, William T. Seagrave and Charles B. Stone. Warrants for 16 men had been issued, but the others including Rice and Charles H. Herzog who is said to be his brother, eluded the raiders. Rice had been in his office earlier in the day but had left before the officers swooped down on the place.

The firm of B. H. Scheffels and company was organized about two years ago, and had conducted a large business, mainly through an extensive advertising propaganda. Mining specialists were its chief offering to investors. A weekly newspaper was published to reach clients, and a corps of 25 stenographers is said to have been required to attend to its correspondence. After the arrests today two patrol wagon loads of papers, books and memoranda were seized by the inspectors.

Another charge against the company by George Scarborough, the government inspector who made the complaint, is that it had resorted to what he called a "crooked bucketshop scheme." He said the concern had charged customers 5 per cent on margins, and had collected commissions without giving any service in return. The difference between the actual prices of stocks on the curb market and fictitious quotations given customers, Scarborough alleges, was converted to the company's use.

In his complaint the defendants are accused of attempting to defraud William A. Childs, Charles S. Black and Dr. D. J. Symanski.

The raid today was made while the curb market was in full swing, and attracted much attention. Thousands rushed to the scene and the police reserves had to be called out to clear a path for the patrol wagons.

In addition to the campaign at home Colonel Roosevelt has a great deal to do elsewhere before election time. A week from today he is to start on his southern trip which will extend over a little more than a week. On this trip he will speak at Knoxville, Tenn., before the Appalachian exposition; in Atlanta at the Uncle Remus day celebration; and in Hot Springs, Ark. Then turning north, he will speak at Peoria, Ill., before the Knights of Columbus and will make a campaign speech in Indiana for Senator Beveridge.

Mexico's Centennial, As Seen By a Colo. Springs Resident

Fred Alley of 22 West Espanola street, this city, has just returned from Mexico City, Mexico, where he attended the centennial celebration of the Mexican declaration of independence. The event was brilliant in the extreme, according to Mr. Alley, who describes it as follows.

"The anniversary was celebrated with great magnificence in the capital, and with generous display of national flags and other decorations throughout the entire country. The government has spent millions to honor patriot soldiers and statesmen, and to perpetuate their memory before the eyes and in the hearts of the people. The whole month of September was set apart for these festivities. The sixteenth, seventeenth and eighteenth were almost entirely devoted to parades of the military, and also of historical floats, representing different periods in the history of the country, especially the Aztec, Spanish and the present. The floats were wrought with artistic skill and expensive, even luxurious, decoration. Some of the decorations were in white marble statuary, which will doubtless be preserved in the national museum.

Thousands of Soldiers.
"There were thousands of soldiers in the great parade on the sixteenth. The column was miles in length, forming in the plaza at the head of the Paseo de la Reforma, the Broadway of Mexico City, a thoroughfare about 250 feet wide. The cavalry marched eight abreast, only one-half of the highway being given over to the parade. The other half was used by vehicles of all descriptions, from the luxurious automobile and the splendid horses and carriages to the cheapest runabouts.

There were from 10,000 to 12,000 of the military in the capital during September, about 4,000 more than the customary garrison. The rurales, organized for service throughout the country districts, especially to hunt down and shoot bandits, who infested and terrorized the country when General Diaz first became president, are a splendid body of men. They are well mounted, well drilled, good sized and soldierly, and would be an honor to the military service of any country.

Cavaliers in Parade.
"In this parade also were a large body of cavaliers and ladies dressed in the old Aztec and Spanish styles, richly decorated and well mounted. Some armament should control. There are many power sites in which the protection of the rights of the people belongs to the states and in these the state should have full swing. In those cases I deprecate all efforts to raise their quarrel, because in the muddy waters there is a refuge for the men who want to escape all control.

Must Fight Common Enemy.
"I believe in co-operation between the states and nation. There is one enemy we all have to fight—it is the man in politics to feather his own nest. Any scattering of our power, therefore, is harmful, so I make this plea: 'Do what you can to get the state and nation together to fight the common enemy and stop any attempt to excite antagonism between the two, thereby creating a gap in which the enemies of both will best flourish.'"

Mr. Pinchot approved associated efforts as represented in the National Irrigation congress, referring to it as the forum where public opinion is molded which decides things in the end. However, he warned the congress against the influence of representatives of the special interests, who seek in such gatherings to mold public opinion for their own benefit.

"To cure a thing of this kind is perfectly simple: let in the light."

Victors Should Be Generous.
Mr. Pinchot was in confidence in ultimate victory for the cause of "common sense" use of our natural resources, and urged the victors to be generous.

"We are one people," said he, "and the national point of view in this great movement does and must continue to control. As our friends the enemy discover their mistakes let us make it as easy as possible for them to join our ranks, but in doing so—don't compromise."

The California clash of yesterday appeared today in a brief tilt between F. C. Finkle and Francis Cuttle. Mr. Finkle admitted that he is consulting engineer for a large power company, but claimed that he expressed only his personal views in dissenting on the matter of federal control. Mr. Cuttle replied that he not only represented his own views but spoke for 5,000 fruit growers in southern California.

Telegrams were read from the state engineer and conservation commission of Nebraska endorsing federal control of waters.

Present Both Sides of Question.
Presenting the Colorado case in the Rio Grande controversy, H. H. Eddy claimed the Engle dam project is needlessly large; lands in Texas under this project not entitled to federal water; that reservoir be filled with silt in 30 years and land returned to aridity; desirable uniformity in flow of the Rio Grande can be achieved only by encouraging irrigation in Colorado; that water used in Colorado would be returned through seepage to the stream for the benefit of those further down the valley.

F. C. Goudy quoted from the rulings of the interior department and the reclamation act, signed by Theodore Roosevelt, to substantiate his claim that Colorado was legally entitled to the use of flood waters.

W. W. Pollatt of Texas reviewed treaty rights between the United States and Mexico, claimed the under soil of the San Luis valley would not return any water to the Rio Grande through seepage, contended that several thousand acres of land along the lower river had become arid through the use of the stream's natural flow in Colorado and declared that New Mexico and Texas did not ask for the return of this perennial flow, but felt in lieu thereof they had the right to the flood waters.

Tonight at floptic lectures were given on various phases of agriculture.

of the ladies were evidently enjoying their cigarettes. All rode astride. "The streets were lined with military, and the sidewalks, with dense crowds, extending three to five miles. It is estimated that nearly 100,000 people witnessed these parades. One feature of the parades was unique. The hearty cheering of our own people for their President and other distinguished men was entirely absent in these demonstrations. Not a single cheer arose for any distinguished person during these entertaining and brilliant displays. There was an occasional cheer for the rurales and a few others, but they were few and faint. For a constitutionally emotional people, it was strange and difficult to understand. Some say the Mexican has been drilled into the repression of his political enthusiasm. One party ventured an explanation that a large proportion of the people is dissatisfied with the Diaz methods of government.

Poorest Peon Welcome.
"Another remarkable feature of the parades, and also of the parks and public buildings, is the number of the poorest peons and others of the lower classes always to be found there. The peons are as welcome to the parks and public buildings as are the richest aristocrats; and the president himself lives in a modest building on a side street, nor has he enriched himself off his country, while possessing every opportunity to do so.

"The town is a cosmopolitan city. Nearly all nations of the earth are here represented, but the British, Spanish, German and American seem to predominate. The Russian, Italian, French, Turk and Arabian all find a home here. Probably in no city of the world are the extremes of wealth and poverty so apparent as in the streets of the City of Mexico. The dashing cavalier, the splendid horse and carriage, the luxurious autos, have a background of poor people so poor as to excite pity or disgust.

"Whatever the faults of the Diaz government may be, to my mind, there are three very important achievements which none but a strong and wise man could have accomplished.

"He has almost entirely cleared the country of bandits and robbers; he has raised the credit of the country from zero to almost equal that of the most favored nations; he is building a magnificent capital. If not already, it soon will be the most splendid capital of its size in the world."

N. Y. DEMOCRATS IN HANDS OF TAMMANY

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 23.—The final conference to decide what candidates' names shall be laid before the Democratic state convention tomorrow, began at midnight in the room of Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany hall. The two hours before this Mr. Murphy had spent in Tammany headquarters at the Whitcomb house "tasting evidence." One after the other he received the candidates still in the field, or their representatives.

When he left the Whitcomb and went to his room at the Hotel Seneca, he was accompanied by Daniel J. Cohalan, J. B. Cram and National Committeeman Norman E. Mack. The word went around that this quarter waters would continue the discussion of candidates and reach a decision if it took them all night.

Before the doors of his quarters closed, behind him the Tammy leader said:

"The situation is as I stated it to you at noon. There has been no concentration on any candidate or any two or three candidates."

Situation Still Open.
The inference from Mr. Murphy's assurance that the other leaders had failed to agree on a candidate was that at last he felt free to select his own. This might be Justice Victor Dowling, Herman A. Metz, Justice James W. Gerard, Justice Martin L. Keogh, Alton B. Parker or Edward M. Shepard. The news that Judge Parker's name was being considered and that Shepard was still in the running, was the surprise of the night.

The subcommittee on resolutions decided at a late hour tonight to refer all matters to a smaller subcommittee composed of Chairman Vansant Voorst, Congressman Fitzgerald and John Quinn, which is to report tomorrow at 11 o'clock to the subcommittee and at noon the platform will be presented to the entire committee on resolutions.

It was stated that the platform will call for statewide direct primaries, but with no specific plan; direct nominations of United States senators; equal and uniform taxation; an employers liability plank and an income tax. The platform will contain an attack upon Theodore Roosevelt for his arraignment of the supreme court and will also denounce the administration of Governor Hughes for alleged extravagance.

Murphy in Control.
Norman E. Mack, chairman of the National Democratic committee admits that Murphy controls the situation. Out of 450 delegates he controls, with Kings county led by John H. McGoey of Brooklyn, and Erie led by William Fitzpatrick of Buffalo more than 200. Upstate leaders recognize tonight the hopelessness of effecting any coalition strong enough to oppose him with any show of success.

The problem that Murphy faces is one that needs all of his caution, experience and judgment. He must find a candidate who will be strong enough to run at least an even race with Henry L. Stimson, backed by Theodore Roosevelt; one who will command the support of Democrats of all shades of opinion and who can with the support of William Randolph Hearst, whose favor or disfavor may decide the day.

END OF PASSION PLAY THIS WEEK

WILL NOT BE PRESENTED
AGAIN UNTIL 1920.

Oberammergau Villagers Dissatisfied and Want Changes for Visitors.

By FREDERIC J. MASKIN.

With the final performance of the 1910 Passion Play this week the little Bavarian village of Oberammergau goes to sleep for another decade. It will only come into the public eye again in 1919 when the first rumors of the great religious spectacle of 1920 begin to be heard and the Passion Play committee meets and elects from among the simple villagers the Christus the Christus, the St. John, the Mary Magdalene, the thieves, the prophets and all the other principals who take part in the decennial celebration of the deliverance of the community from a plague of the Middle Ages.

When the plays are formulated for the Passion Play of 1920 there will be many changes in the methods of management for the Oberammergauers have promised to profit by some of the unfortunate experiences of the last five months. It is probable that the contract with tourist agencies, who controlled the booking arrangements this year, will be materially modified in 1920, for great has been the dissatisfaction, not only on the part of visitors, but among the inhabitants themselves who feel aggrieved at the lack of comfort with which the spectators have had to contend.

This is the first season that the Oberammergau villagers have allowed agencies to make reservations for the Passion Play. Heretofore all negotiations have been conducted with the villagers direct, but this year the prospective spectator was permitted to go to a tourist office in London or to branches in any of the great continental cities, and ask that reservation be made. The tourist office upon receiving advices from Oberammergau, supplied the applicant with a slip giving the name of the villager with whom he was to find accommodations in the little town nestling in a hollow among the hills, on the banks of the river Ammer.

System the Keynote.

Getting off the crowded train from the city of Munich, the visitor, his slip in hand, applied at the tourist office at the railroad station. There he was supplied with credentials to his Oberammergau host. Turning to leave the station he was accosted by one only one of a large number of long-haired boys who stood silently at the elbow of each visitor while he was talking with the agent. The boy heard the name of the villager at whose house the stranger was to stop and as the latter turned from the office the boy queried, "Herr 't?" When the answer was yet the boy quietly offered to take suit cases and bags, and trudging slowly ahead through the main street crowded with people, conducted the sightseer to his host's home. There he found spotlessly clean quarters which varied in size and comforts according to the price paid—from $2 to $6 a day. The rules of the village were that the visitor must stay at least two days in the town, the night preceding and the night of the play. Whether he remained the night of the play or rushed back to Munich after 6 o'clock, he must pay for the two days, otherwise he could not have been sure of securing his seat at the performance.

The best seats in the vast theater were sold for $2.50 and they were not in the front rows. The seats very near the stage are not considered desirable, because there is seldom a day in Oberammergau without rain. Sometimes it is a very gentle shower and on other occasions it comes down in torrents. Those who sit near the front are subjected to all the discomforts of a downpour in the open without protection, for the theater is a vast auditorium with only three walls. The stage is in the open and the rain beats into the faces of the spectators who are seated nearest the orchestra. The Oberammergau theater ushers along no one to raise an umbrella during the performance. If the rain is uncomfortable the only recourse is to leave the building. The actors are not deterred by deluges. Their costumes are of rich velvet, silks and satins, but they have no thought for these.

No Thoughts for Elements.

They come upon the stage apparently unconscious of all unfavorable weather conditions. It frequently happened during the season just closed that rains and thunderstorms came at what seemed to be most auspicious dramatic moments. On numerous occasions during the crucifixion scene there would flash from lowering clouds the vivid tongue of lightning which would illumine the deathlike pallor of the Christus and the boom of reverberating thunder as it echoed from mountain to mountain seemed as if the elements were in league with the simple peasants in giving impressiveness to their performance.

The audiences at Oberammergau were as interesting as were the performers. A large percentage of those who witnessed the plays were American tourists who were accustomed to applauding all stage performance of merit. But in the vast amphitheater at Oberammergau there was no applause, even after the most tragic and moving scenes. The whole people seemed to be imbued with the reality of the drama and the sincerity of those who watched was the best answer to the oft repeated question, "Are the Oberammergau players sinners?" The great scene of the crucifixion. The player who impersonated the Christus is suspended from the cross for 15 to 20 minutes. His thighs are visible. The body seems to be on the cross by the nails which are fastened on the hands and feet. The figure is clad in flesh-colored tights with a white cloth about the waist as seen in all paintings of the crucifixion. The great shock of the scene comes when the Roman soldiers

ALFRED RINGFADERS HELD

Three Miners Charged With Inciting
Riot Near Salda Wednesday Night.

SALDA, Sept. 29.—Wiley Champ, Samuel Jones and 1 Wing, miners at Monarch, are locked up in the county jail at Buena Vista charged with being the ringleaders in the near-riot at that camp yesterday. The men are also accused of dynamiting the cabin of a miner named Howland, who heard the men coming and escaped from the cabin before it was demolished.

The trouble started at a dance Monday night when the miners began drinking. Festivities were continued until Wednesday when the saloon-keeper who furnished the men with liquor insisted that they pay their bills. The men, 18 in number, overpowered the owner of the saloon, had overcharged them, and they "cleaned out" the place. They then secured dynamite from the powder house at the Madonna mine with which to blow up Howland's cabin. After blowing up this cabin the rioters cut the telephone wires so that messages for assistance could not be sent to the sheriff at Buena Vista.

Mrs. James E. Martin, the $200,000 widow of New York, who was recently arrested for speeding at a 25-mile-an-hour pace through Long Island, and who when haled to court, did not have the money to pay the $20 fine. She was about to be paroled, when she turned to her chauffeur, telling him she had only $17 of the amount needed. He flashed a great big roll of bills of high denomination, turning it all over to his mistress.

BULWER LYTTON AND THE MEDIUM

From Laurel's Life
The possibility of communicating with his daughter's spirit attracted him to Home, the coarseness of one of Home's female clients began to repel him. This lady, as Lytton used to tell the story, had been brought into converse with her departed husband's spirit.

"Are you," she asked "quite 'appy, dear, as 'appy as when you were with me?"
The reply came "Oh, far 'ppier!"
Then indeed you must be in 'eaven," returned the lady.
"No," returned the gentleman, "I'm in 'ell!"

curiously which the visitors manifest toward him. An incident which occurred one August afternoon, will serve to show his objection to the "highlight." A party of two or three was in his shop buying postcards and pottery, which he makes at his own wheel. As he stood behind his counter showing his wares a group of four or five spectators gathered at the window and began to stare at the man who, on the following day, was to impersonate the Savior. He seemed to be more or less troubled for a few moments and then quietly asked one of his customers if he would object to drawing down the shades as "I do not like for people to stare." Lang in his home is a kindly, cordial host and greets the visitor with a warm handshake. He speaks excellent English, with scarcely an accent. During the last five months the central figure of the town has been greatly oppressed, however, by the numerous visitors who called with the sole purpose of shaking hands so they could "tell the folks back home."

Some criticism was voiced this year against the acting of the beautiful young Ottilie Zwick, daughter of Johann Zwick, who plays Judas. Fraulien Zwick was the Virgin Mary, and it was urged in many quarters that an older woman and one who had a wider experience in life would have realized the acting value of the part more fully. But the "average" spectator failed to take into consideration one of the tenets of the Oberammergau Passion Play committee, that no married woman shall ever take the part of either of the Marys. No wife are permitted to be worn by the Passion Players and no makeup is allowed. Those who hope to take part in the performance allow their hair to go unshorn for three years prior to the first presentation. Next week the village barber of Oberammergau will have his hands

40 Years of Success

For over 40 years Dr. Pierce's Family Medicines have kept the lead and still stand in the front rank as curative agents.

They are little advertised now, as compared with many others, resting, as they do for popularity upon their many years of marvelous cures and the grateful friends they have made.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG.

SICK WOMEN WELL.

It's the only advertised medicine for woman's ills which contains neither alcohol (which to most women is worse than rankst poison) nor habit-forming, or injurious drugs and the makers of which are not afraid to print all its ingredients on its outside wrapper. Is that not significant?

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

Is equally renowned for its many cures of Stomach Weakness, Indigestion, Torpid, or Lazy, Liver and kindred derangements, as well as for Blood and Skin affections. In many ailments of women the combined use of these two medicines is advised.

It's only a dishonest dealer, here and there, that will attempt to persuade you to accept a secret nostrum in place of these time-proven remedies of known composition. Resist the insult to your intelligence and trade elsewhere.

with an ordinary jackknife can take a watch apart. It doesn't require a great amount of skill to dissect a watch and to thoroughly clean each part. It does take time and a lot of "watchmakers" won't take that.

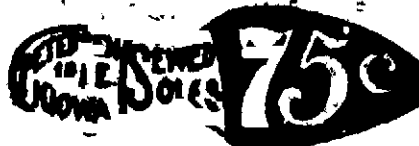

The skill acquired by years of experience and a thorough practical and theoretical knowledge of watch mechanisms is required to put a watch together and adjust each part to make the most of the time-keeping qualities of the watch.

We take time enough to put each separate part of your watch through five distinct cleaning processes, which remove every speck of dust and dirt and every trace of old oil. We then put the watch together, oil it carefully and adjust it so that it goes to you in the best possible condition and prepared to give you the best time-keeping service you ever had from it.

For the average watch we charge a dollar and a half for cleaning and adjusting, and it should be done every year. It increases the efficiency of your watch and prolongs its life.

BIG RALLY BY REPUBLICANS ON SATURDAY

Postals sent out last night to every precinct committeeman of the Republican party in El Paso county tell of a big rally and precinct organization meeting to be held in the district court room at the court house next Saturday night. Secretary William A. Scully of the county central committee is trying to have every precinct committeeman and committee woman present at the meeting, which will be followed by some good political speeches by prominent members of the party.

Secretary Scully declared last night that the gathering will not confine itself wholly to outlining methods of work in the precincts, but that it will also be a big ratification meeting, to which all Republicans in the entire county are invited. If the political meetings held recently in this city are any criterion, a record-breaking attendance will be present.

Chairman Schreiber of the county central committee returned last night from Denver, where he conferred with some of the state leaders of the party.

Y.W.C.A. OPENING IS GREAT SUCCESS

The season of 1910-11 for the Young Women's Christian association of Colorado Springs was auspiciously inaugurated last night with "open house" in their enlarged downtown quarters, 120 DeGraff building. The attendance was over 300, and the board of managers, who were present to welcome the guests, are highly pleased with the interest manifested. In the large assembly room, which does duty through the day as a reception and dining room, light refreshments were served, with the following presiding at the table: Mrs. James H. Sinclair, Mrs. William W. Arnold, Mrs. Harry H. Seldomridge and Mrs. William C. Robinson, assisted by other members of the board of managers and young lady members of the Y.W.C.A.

Miss Ellen T. Brinley, president of the board made a few informal remarks, and Miss Marguerite Dice, general secretary, gave a resume of the class work, clubs, Bible study, vesper services and other general information in regard to the association. The pleasure of those attending this reception, which took the place of the usual rally, was enhanced by the fact that Colorado Springs' gifted young contralto, Miss Anne Roberts, delayed her departure for the east a day that she might attend and sing some of the songs that have made her stay in her home city so noteworthy. She gave the first group a selection from the opera of "Carmen" and some French songs, and, in the second, Edwin's "Booth" a plantation ditty, two old Scotch songs and a Neapolitan selection.

THAT GREEK MEET GREEK IS PROVED BY NAMES

Greek met Greek in unpoetic style yesterday afternoon, when Peter Pullos caused the arrest, on a charge of larceny, of a fellow-countryman, Gust Gachios.

The story unfolded in Justice Toombs' court by the halting tongue of Pullos savored strongly of peonage practice by the younger and more Americanized Gachios. The latter conducts a shoe-shining parlor on South Tejon street, and it is alleged, retains $52 wages due Pullos. Judge Toombs and the attorneys were unable to unravel the tangled threads of the story yesterday, and the case is to be continued today. Gachios is out on bond.

NO RATE WAR; CUT MADE TO ASSIST THE LESSEES

That the recent cut in rates by the reduction plants of this vicinity does not point to a rate war, but that the reduction was made to assist the Cripple Creek lessees and stimulate production, is the report from the general offices of the companies concerned.

FIRST KNIGHTS TEMPLAR DANCE IS BIG SUCCESS

Under the auspices of the Knights Templar, the first Masonic dance of the season was held at the temple last night. There was a good attendance, and all expressed themselves as having a splendid time. Dancing began at 8 o'clock and continued until midnight. Light refreshments were served at intermission. Many nonmembers enjoyed the hospitality of the Masons.

ALL REPUBLICANS SHOULD REGISTER; CHICANERY FEARED

Republicans in charge of the present campaign are planning to effect an extremely light registration, especially in the north end of the city, thought to be largely due to Democratic members of the different registration boards. They claim that in precincts where the Republicans are largely in the majority, the Democratic registrar will fully abscond himself, so that the Republican member cannot perform his duties.

In order for this chicanery to be nullified, it will be necessary for every Republican voter to see to it that he is registered at one of the two times when he can be enrolled by the board sitting in special session, in each precinct. The first opportunity will be on October 4, and the second on October 10. The Democratic politicians are planning to get in all their party members who are not registered on those two days, and it is incumbent upon every Republican voter to see that his name is on the rolls. A light registration is always to the advantage of the Democrats.

Volunteers to aid in the work of rounding up all those who are not yet registered are badly needed, and it is the hope of the leaders of the party that before the two registration days roll around, every precinct will have its organization perfected to the end that an unusually large number of Republican voters will be on the list of qualified voters.

Reliable.

The word PURE by no means tells the whole story. Pepper that is ground from low-grade, immature pepper berries is worse than worthless as far as strength and flavor are concerned. GIVES TALK ON LATE SCIENCE

DISCUSSES NEW COLOR PHOTOGRAPHY.

Stanley McGinnis Opens Winter Lecture Series Colorado College Y. M. C. A.

Vivid and pleasing representations of scenery from nature, fruits from the orchards of Luther Burbank and flowers such as "the artist can paint" were all shown on the screen at Perkins hall last night during the course of a most interesting lecture on color photography by Stanley McGinnis of Denver, one of the most noted authorities on the subject.

Mr. McGinnis began his lecture with a short history of the experiments carried on by scientists for years in an effort to discover some way of photographing objects in their natural colors. He told how the discovery was first made in France in 1861, and four months after that historic event he himself was taking color photographs in America.

"Color photography is yet in its infancy in many ways," said Mr. McGinnis, "although we hope to get better results in the near future. Now, all we can do is to use a specially prepared plate on which are millions of starch granules to each square inch.
These starch granules are colored with the three fundamental colors, red, yellow and violet blue, so that the colors of the object are exactly reproduced on this plate. Thus far no means of transferring the colors exactly from the plate to papers, or of fading somesensitized paper, which will answer the same purpose of the plates, has been found. Scientists to the number of 5,000, all over the world, are now working on that entrancing problem."

Mr. McGinnis showed on the screen
a view of the gateway to the Garden of the Gods, which was perfect in its appearance. Several other local views mainly from the Garden of the Gods were also shown. The slide showing a basket of varicolored plums, all raised on the ranches of Luther Burbank in southern California, received much applause, as did that slide where the rainbow's colors, in the Falls of the Yellowstone, were distinctly and truly shown.

Throughout the interesting talk, Mr.
McGinnis showed himself a friend of Colorado's people and Colorado's beauties, and that his audience greatly enjoyed his talk was evidenced in the frequent and well-merited bursts of applause.

The lecture was given under the auspices of the Colorado College Y. M.
C. A. and it is the intention of this society to maintain the high standard of last night's lecture in a series of talks and lectures to be continued through the winter. Negotiations for the famous Dunbar quartet are pending, and other well-known entertainers will doubtless be secured.

BANKERS ENJOY THE CRYSTAL PARK TRIP

Two carloads of prominent bankers en route to the annual convention at Los Angeles, made the Crystal Park auto trip yesterday afternoon. Among them were Cyrus Osborne Baker, president Baker and company; Walter L. Oliphant, secretary Hanover National bank John G. Lonsdale of Logan and Bryan, all of New York city; Alexander C. Robinson, vice president Commonwealth Trust company, Pittsburgh; B. E. Smythe, cashier Gramatan National bank of Bronxville; T. M. Hamilton, cashier Delaware County National bank, Chester, Pa.; Charles C. Barlow, vice president
Fidelity National bank, New Haven, Conn.; Martin H. Griffing, cashier City National bank of Danbury, Conn.; O. H. Brothwell, cashier First Bridgeport National bank, Bridgeport, Conn.; Harvey M. Boyer of Montgomery, Clothier and Tyler, bankers, Philadelphia; Samuel D. Jordan,
cashier Bank of North America, Philadelphia; Edward Cohen, manager financial department, the Evening Post, New York city, and E. W. Kim-melberg, representing the New York
News bureau.

All had a most enjoyable time, and none could speak too highly in praise of the trip and the ease with which the automobiles made the climb. The wonderful panorama view of the Pikes Peak region was also warmly praised.

COLLAR BONE IS BROKEN IN HIGH SCHOOL "SCRAP"

Carroll Smith, a sophomore at the Manitou High school, sustained a fractured collar bone yesterday morning in a fight over the colors of the freshman class. The freshmen and sophomore classes "mix" every year over the colors, and Smith, who took a prominent part in the scrap, managed to get at the bottom of a pile of boys, where he was injured. Young Smith's injury is not serious.

MANY EASTERN BANKERS IN CITY EN ROUTE WEST

Bankers from New York, Connecticut, Kansas, Missouri and Wisconsin arrived in this city yesterday en route to Los Angeles, where the American Bankers association will hold its meeting next week. They traveled in special trains which were parked here during their stay. Secretary Henderson of the Chamber of Commerce has been in communication with the bankers for some time and it was largely through his efforts that they spent the last few days of the season in this city. The trip will last until night of the week.

REPUBLICANS MEET TONIGHT TO START THE BAIL ROLLING

To elect a permanent organization for the new Republican club of this city to name committees and to start the bail rolling for a series of real out-fashioned rallies and meetings in the interests of the state and county Republican ticket a meeting will be held in the court house tonight at 8 o'clock.
At this meeting the temporary organization formed at the session Wednesday night will be relieved of its duties although it is probable that it will be made the permanent organization.
William L. Strahan and Louis Vieger are chairman and secretary respectively, of the temporary organization.
From the feeling manifested at the recent meeting, it is expected that the rally tonight will be one of the most enthusiastic of the fall campaign.

HEAD OFFICERS OF M.W.A. VISIT HERE

The governing board of the Modern Woodmen of America spent yesterday in an inspection trip over the camp and grounds of the M. W. A. sanatorium, and found everything in first-class condition. The trip was not an investigation trip, as a result of complaints, as has been reported, but was one of the three or four made each year by the board. In the party were:
Head Consul A. R. Talbot, Directors
A. N. Bort, J. A. Rutledge, E. E. Murphy, R. B. Smith and F. O. Van Gelder, editor of the Modern Woodman.

Mr. Talbot said last night:
"We are making one of our usual trips of inspection to the sanatorium, and are by no means here as an investigation board. There are now 165 tents in use at the camp, and we shall probably erect no more until next spring. We are doing about $500 worth of work on one of the new intakes at our upper reservoir, however, which will be completed in time to get the benefit of all the fall rains."

Most of the board members will leave for home this morning.

WRECK VICTIMS ARE RESIDENTS OF CITY

Final corroboration of the report that Mrs. C. W. Smith and Miss Anna
Smith, who were in the Rock Island wreck a few days ago, are residents of this city, was received yesterday.
The day after the wreck it was announced that they were residents here, but later, owing to the giving of wrong initials to newspaper men, it was stated that they do not live here. It was yesterday learned that they are from Colorado Springs, and that they live at 218 Center street. The extent of their injuries is not known. Mrs.
J. Barton, daughter of Mrs. Smith, lives in this city at 114 North Seventh street.

FIGHT FOR A CONTRACT MAY BE BACK OF ARREST

George Smedberg, charged with the embezzlement of $2,000, was taken back to Wilmington, Del., yesterday by G. D. Granberry, a detective employed by the Tulsa agency in Kansas city.
Smedberg, who is a contractor, says that he was on his way to San Diego where he hoped to secure a large contract for the firm he represents, and his detention here is characterized as an attempt on the part of others to collect a debt by means of criminal action. It is claimed that a sum of money was turned over to Smedberg to pay bills for contracting supplies.
It is said that most of the bills have been paid and, as the material was contracted for on 30 to 90 days time, the remainder of the money, about $2,000, is not yet due.

St. Louis, Mo.—"I was bothered terribly with a female weakness and had backache, bearing down pains and pains in lower parts. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound regularly and used the Sensitive Wash and now I have no more troubles that way."—Mrs. AL. HUBBARD, 6722
Prescott Ave., St. Louis Mo.
Because your case is a difficult one,
do not having done you no good,
do not continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has cured many cases of female ills, such as inflammation, irregular displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing down feeling, languor, dizziness and nervous prostration. It costs but a trifle to try it and the result is worth millions to many suffering women.

the home of Gant, seven miles west of this city. Miller was found guilty of murder in the second degree, and Gant of voluntary manslaughter. The men will be sentenced on Friday.
The penalty of voluntary manslaughter is from one to eight years

Woman's Nature

It is the nature of woman to suffer uncomplainingly, the discomforts and fears that accompany the bearing of children. Motherhood is their crowning glory, and they brave its sufferings for the joy that child will bring.
No expectant mother need suffer,
however, during the period of waiting, nor feel that she is in danger, when baby comes, if Mother's Friend is used in preparation of the event. Mother's Friend relieves the pain and discomfort caused by the strain on the different ligaments, overcomes nausea by counter-action, prevents backache and numbness of limbs and soothes the inflammation of breast glands. Its regular use fits and prepares every portion of the mother's system for a proper and natural ending of the term, and it secures for her a quick and complete recovery. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for free book for expectant mothers.

HOSPITAL LIST INCREASES; TIGERS AND TERRORS MEET

Colorado College—"Shorty" Steele, tackle, hurt in practice Wednesday evening, will probably be out of the game for the remainder of the season. One of the bones in Steele's right cheek was broken in making a tackle. Acker taken out of yesterday's game with the High School with a wrenched leg. Putnam and Sinton still on the sidelines owing to injuries.

Denver University—Shroeder, acting under his physician's order, will not play this year. Captain Volk, star halfback, who had the ligaments of his knee torn loose in practice, has been given a pair of crutches and will not play football this year.

Fort Collins—Harry Shipman, a freshman, fractured the cervical vertebra during a scrimmage. His head and neck have been placed in a plaster cast and it is believed that his football days are ended. His injury is serious.

Boulder—Quarterback Wightman and Bowman are both out of the game as a result of injuries sustained in the practice game with the Denver High school on Saturday. Bowman had three ribs broken and Wightman twisted a leg. Both expect to be back in the game soon.

Both the Colorado College and High School eleven came through their first clash last evening without serious injury. Acker, the Tiger fullback, received a twisted leg when he went through the line near the close of play, and was replaced by Dickson. It is believed that he will be out again in a day or two.

Yesterday's meeting between the two teams did not result in either side scoring. While the Tigers doubtless could have carried the ball over on more than one occasion, the object of the practice was not to pile up touchdowns. Coach Rothgeb wanted to see how his men worked against a strange eleven, though the Terrors were, of course, far too light to test the real power of the collegians.

As it was, however, Captain Heese and his men made several gains through the Tiger forwards. The High School was given the ball in midfield, and with an unlimited number of downs at their disposal, were told to advance the ball. Sometimes they pushed through for substantial gains, and on other attempts were thrown for a loss. Later the ball was given to the Tigers. Both coaches followed the playing of their men closely, and will get to work at once strengthening the weak spots that cropped out on both sides yesterday.

Manager DeWitt Robinson of the High School team closed with the Centennial eleven yesterday for a game to be played here on the afternoon of November 12. This will be, perhaps, the most important game on the High School schedule this year. Early reports from Pueblo are to the effect that the Centennial team will be unusually strong and, while prospects are bright for a successful year at the High School, the Terrors will have to put in some hard ticks before the season opens.

This morning at 10 o'clock the sophomores and freshman teams will play the annual class game on Washburn field. Both squads have been out practicing every afternoon and, as both classes have some star men in the lineup, the game should prove highly interesting and productive of good football. Johnny Herron, the freshman quarter, is expected to distinguish himself today. The little athlete from Aspen plays a spectacular game, and should be a star man for the varsity next season. In practice against the regulars he is in every play, and they can't come too big for him to stop. Herron will run the freshman team today, and his classmates look to him to beat the common enemy, the sophs.

Native Belle and Miss Stokes Honors at Columbs Meeling

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 29.—Native Belle and Miss Stokes, champion trotters of last year at two and one years, today won the 3-year and 2-year-old divisions of the Horse Review Futurity in races that were made uncertain by the unsteadiness of each.

Native Belle was favorite, but her manners threw the wagering public into a panic that did not subside until she trotted all the way in the fifth heat and won it in 2:04. She did the first quarter of the first heat in 29 seconds.

Miss Stokes, first choice in the junior division, broke going away in the first heat which went to Justice Brooke in slow time. The middle heat was a see-saw between the two most all the way, which Miss Stokes won and took a record of 2:04. She won the third heat in slow time, though it was as stubbornly contested as the second one. Leftwich won the pacing division as she pleased.

In an attempt to beat his world's record of 2:01 made here a week ago today, The Harvester failed. He stepped the first quarter in less than Manager Fred Clarke of the Pittsburgh team, who has withdrawn from the line-up of the Pirates and announced that Campbell would play left field until the end of the season. The withdrawal of Clarke was admittedly brought about by the vicious nature to which he was subjected when the champion Pirates lost two games in succession to New York. The crowd roasted Clarke and when he was at the bat in the third inning became abusive.

Mr. Jeffries and Mr. Johnson will meet in a silent battle at the Opera House this afternoon, tomorrow afternoon and tomorrow night. The motion pictures of the great Fourth of July engagement at Reno will reach Colorado Springs today, and local fight fans will have an opportunity to see just how Mr. Johnson landed the wallop that second only to a fight in reality. Early in the fifteenth round Mr. Johnson will slip a right uppercut to Mr. Jeff's jaw, jarring the championship crown from the latter's brow, and ending the most talked-of fight ever staged.

FRENCHMEN TUNING UP FOR AMERICANS

PARIS, Sept. 29.—The French aviation cracks are tuning up for the American meet and the thoroughness of their preparations betrays a determination to bring back to France the international trophy which Glenn H. Curtiss won at Rheims a year ago. At that time the American covered 12.42 miles in 16 minutes 35 seconds, establishing a world's record. The team selected is made up of Alfred LeBlanc, Hubert Latham and Leon Morane. Each is putting the finishing touches on a specially built monoplane. Today LeBlanc tried out his new Blériot model equipped with two coupled 50-horsepower revolving engine motors. It is understood the racer developed extraordinary speed.

Hubert Latham has been practicing with his new 100-horsepower flyer and is said to have attained a speed of something like 70 miles an hour. The international cup must be won three times in succession to become the property of any club. The coming competition will be the second of the series with the advantage of the first victory resting with the Aero Club of America.

Trotting Nags Break Records

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—The records kept by the Jockey Club here show that trotters have done an unusual amount of record-breaking this year, while among the pacers the breaking of records has been confined to the performances of Minor Heir, son of Heir at Law. Minor Heir first lowered Star Pointer's mark of 2:00 1/2 to 2:00 at Galesburg, Ill., and at Indianapolis a week later he paced the mile in 1:59. At Indianapolis he brought his record mark down to 1:58 1/2. The new world's records of the trotters are:
Thian, 1:58 1/2.

Fastest green stallion—Colorado B., from 2:07 1/2 to 2:05 1/2.

DOOM IS BENCHED FOR DISPUTING KANE

NATIONAL LEAGUE.
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 29.—Philadelphia hit the ball hard today, and easily defeated St. Louis, 6 to 1. The visitors made only two hits off Ewing's delivery. Manager Dooin of Philadelphia was today suspended indefinitely by President Lynch for a dispute with Umpire Klein yesterday. Bresnahan was put out of the game for disputing a decision by Umpire Kane.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—New York took the last game from Cincinnati today, 5 to 4, through Murray's clever hitting, and Ames' steadiness at critical times. Beecher, Cincinnati's left fielder, had his left hand lacerated and his chest badly injured when he ran against one of the field boxes in the fifth inning. He had to be taken to a hospital.

Fifty-one horses were entered, but it is thought only the following will face the starter:

As exclusively printed in a New York evening paper last Thursday, Jim Jeffries knocked out Bob Fitzsimmons in 11 rounds, June 9, 1899.

LANG BROKE HAND IN HIS KAUFMAN FIGHT

By ROBERT EDGREN.
NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—I noted recently the pleasing fact that Bill Lang hadn't been around making excuses after his fight with Kaufman. Today I have a letter from Lang in which he explains his keeping out of sight. Bill says he didn't care to bother people as long as he was not in shape to do any fighting. He broke his right hand very badly in the second round of the Kaufman fight—broke it so badly that it will not be good enough to fight with again for a couple of months.

Dan Morgan, Knockout Brown's manager, visited Stratford, where Bill Lang is sticking around his old training camp, and saw Lang. He reports that the Australian has one of the worst broken hands he ever saw.

That explains the puzzle. Lang nearly knocked Kaufman out in the second round in a fierce, rushing, slugging rally in which he hung big Al on the ropes and had him going fast. After that he seemed to lose his slugging ability, and only occasionally mixed matters. He was strong as ever, but fell back upon the use of his left hand instead of the slugging right.

Lang is the first fighter I ever knew who broke a hand in a fight and said nothing about it after the other fellow had won. He's a new specimen.

HANS LOWERS TRACK RECORD AT LEXINGTON

LEXINGTON, Sept. 29.—Hans, paying $25.00 on each ticket in the mutuels, won the Lexington Brewing company stakes, the feature of the closing day of the Kentucky Racing association meeting. He broke a track record in going a mile and 20 yards in 1:40 3/5, a second faster than the time of W. A. Leach at the spring meeting.

OGDEN, Utah, Sept. 29.—Favorites again ruled at the Ogden fair grounds today. In the third race, Metropolitan, whose price was 10 to 1 in the overnight betting, opened at the track at 3 to 1 and was backed off an easy winner. The horse breezed home an easy winner.

LIBEL SUITS MAY FOLLOW THE D. U.-MARQUETTE CASE

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 29.—It has been decided by the authorities at Marquette university to start libel suits as the result of the efforts of the western conference to force Denver university to cancel its game scheduled for October 15 at Denver. The charges brought in Denver against Marquette are made so definitely that the university believes it can have its detractors brought into court and force them to prove their assertions.

The newspapers will not be attacked, but the defendants will be the authorities, it is said, of the colleges which have made the charges in the western conference. The case will be placed in the hands of the Marquette university law department for formulation of the case.

Although the Rocky Mountain Faculty Athletics conference refused to sanction the Marquette-Denver game at its meeting last Saturday, the specific charges against the institution are not known. It was the votes of the conference members from Boulder and Colorado College, however, that placed a ban on the contest. The chief objection, it is understood, was the eligibility rule at the Wisconsin institution, but so far as can be learned there is no direct proof against Marquette. As early as last June, it is said, the Boulder authorities made objection to a Marquette-Denver game and Professor Norlin, according to the story that has since come out, went to Marquette to investigate the eligibility rules. The outcome of the investigation was evidently not satisfactory to the Boulder authorities, and when the matter came up for settlement at the Rocky Mountain conference last week the proposed game was not sanctioned.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 29.—Marquette university of this city is more determined than ever that Denver university carry out its contract and play the game scheduled for October 15. The Marquette boys insist upon the playing of the game, if for no other reason than a vindication of them.

Athletics' Star Test Hander Tells How He Got His Start

By EDDIE PLANK.
(Of the Champion Athletics.)
They all say I got my start the day of the battle of Gettysburg, but they exaggerate somewhat. I was born in Gettysburg in 1875, and that gave the boys a chance to say things. I admit the 1875 without trying to get away and scalp half a dozen years off my age, as some of them do.

At any rate, I think I am rather a freak as a baseball player because I seldom have heard of any case anything like my own.

As I told you, I was born in Gettysburg and I played some baseball around there in an amateur way, and without giving the game much thought. You see, I had other things to do, and down in Gettysburg we regard baseball as a Fourth of July and Saturday amusement rather than a business. Honestly, I never even read the scores or knew who played in the big leagues until I was 20 years old.

Gettysburg looked big enough for me, and when I could play ball I played because I liked the running and the throwing, and everything else. I didn't know a squeeze play from third base, hardly. All I wanted to do was to beat the other fellows.

I started to college about the time most of the other fellows are getting through. I was 25 when I began pitching for the Gettysburg college team, and I was big and strong and fast and wild and inexperienced and everything else that goes to make up a college pitcher. I simply shut my eyes and let loose and let the boys who didn't strike out got bases on balls, and I have suspected since that a lot of them struck out just to escape from standing up there at the bat.

Seriously, I think the real reason for my start was that I was older, stronger and better developed than the average college man. That made me stand out among them, and it attracted the attention of professional clubs. I had not thought of baseball as a profession at all until offered a job, and I joined the Athletics in May, 1901. After school closed, knowing about as much about major league baseball as I know who will make a three-bagger in the morning game next Decoration day, I started right out to pitch the way I did at school; just wait till I saw the whites of their eyes and then shoot.

I must say I got away with it luck. The American league is outdrawing the National league so far this season, 1,331,000 to 2,810,000. According to statistics gathered by the Boston Post, the Boston Americans have played before 652,000 fans on their own grounds. The attendance at Philadelphia has been 543,000; at Pittsburgh, about 530,000; at New York, 523,000; and at Chicago, 573,000. The attendance at the Cincinnati park is estimated at 245,000. Boston played before 150,000 fans and the Giants before 475,000. At Chicago 515,000 paid to see the Cubs play.

Russell Ford, the sterling pitcher of the Highlanders, who was 7/11 squashed a hard-won victory from the Cleveland Indians. It was an up-hill fight for the New York team had been declared in a state of mutiny, and whether this was so or not it had its effect upon their spirit. Ford beat Cleveland in a pitcher's battle. Seven men got to first on balls pitched by Kaler, his opponent.

with which he has to deal are correspondingly great. For the last decade New York City has been in the grip of the best organized and most rapacious political gang in the country, and although Judge Gaynor was nominated by that same organization he has repudiated it utterly and made himself Mayor of the whole people and not of Tammany alone. His removal from his present office to become Governor would be a calamity second only to what would have been if the assassin's aim had been more accurate, and it is indeed fortunate for long-suffering New York City that he has refused the temptation to higher honors.

THE FOUR-YEAR TERM.

From the New York Evening Post.
One does not need to be committed to the four-year governorship plan to realize the many arguments in its favor, or those that are on the side of making the incumbent ineligible for re-election. But on these questions, too, no one can gainsay the force with which the governor speaks out of his own rich experience in the capitol. Every governor has, for instance, been overwhelmed by the 30-day bills that have been laid upon his desk by the hundreds. For a conscientious man to go through this mass intelligently is enough to break him down physically, if not mentally. The odds are all against there being adequate consideration of what the governor rightly describes as a heap of undigested, half-formed legislation. Fortunately, there is nothing to prevent Mr. Justice Hughes from giving valuable aid to the cause of state governmental reform, about which no one can speak with greater authority.

POETRY AND THE COST OF LIVING.

From the Chicago Inter Ocean.
The wife of Richard Le Gallienne, the poet, has filed a bill for divorce, according to a dispatch from New York. It seems that the poet has not supported her for seven years or more. Hence the suit. While nonsupport for a matter of seven years is legal ground for a divorce in most states, Mrs. Le Gallienne, it seems to us, should take into consideration the difficulties in the way of a professional poet. Of late years there have been particularly great. Most commodities, as she must know very well, have gone up 40 or 50 per cent in the last decade. Food, clothes, house rent, amusements, wives, establishments, all these call for a great deal more than they probably ever did before. And yet it is a fact no doubt easily verified that the price of poetry has not by any means kept pace with the general rise in prices. We shouldn't be at all surprised, if even a superficial investigation were to show that poetry was actually selling for less today than it did several years ago.

WITH HINDS AS UMPIRE.

From the New York Evening Post.
A writer in the Evening Post some time ago dwelt on the predicament of the next speaker of the House of Representatives when Congressmen Asher C. Hinds rises to a point of parliamentary procedure. Confronted by the master of a century's rules and precedents in debate, the unhappy speaker will have no recourse left but to hold that the thing is so because Hinds says it is so. Democratic luck is changing these days but it is in line with traditional Democratic luck that the speaker whose fate it is to be caught in the net of the learned Hinds will, in all probability, be a Democrat. It is, of course, an open question whether the new Maine congressman's debating and strategic ability is in keeping with his vast parliamentary knowledge. As a rule, the two things do not go together. If Congressmen Hinds is to be a source of strength to the Republican opposition in the next Congress, it will be in the role of a learned assistant counsel to the fighting leaders on the floor of the House. The chances are, however, that the judicial habit of years will be hard to break, and that even as a party member Mr. Hinds will find it hard to be at all times partisan. We may very possibly have the interesting spectacle of a speaker of the House calling upon Mr. Hinds for enlightenment upon a peculiarly difficult point, and both sides accepting the decision without a murmur.

THE GREATER BOSTON FOLLY.

From the Boston Transcript.
Merely to make this city bulk large in the census tables of the ready reference manual would be a very childish reason for such a wholesale overturn in affairs as the proposed Greater Boston would constitute. It is now something of a distinction for Boston that its census figures do not so nearly represent its real strength as do those of most other American cities. Were these all to enter into a race to see how large they could make themselves appear on the records starting areas would in time result New York and Philadelphia might become contiguous cities, while Chicago would be bounded by Wisconsin, Indiana, Lake Michigan and the rest of Illinois. Boston, to recover relative position anew in such a race, might have to annex everything as far west as the Connecticut river and south to the Cape Cod canal. All this craze for bigness is essentially unintelligent. What makes an American city desirable is its quality, its government, its institutions, its educational facilities, its average of human comfort. To these aims the attention of public-spirited men should be directed, and not to figures in a census bulletin. Huge cities are not, as a rule, well run. The Greater New York experiment in government has been an indifferent success. The experience of Chicago will hardly be quoted as an argument for a Greater Boston. Popular government works out to the best advantage where the power is kept close to those over whom it is exercised.

INDICTED BEEF PACKERS.

From the Milwaukee Sentinel.
Attorneys for the packers intimate that there is a combine, trying to pack their clients off to the canneries.

From the Newark Evening News.
It is sincerely to be hoped that the indicted Chicago packers may not succeed in packing the juries.

From the Milwaukee Journal.
The beef trust ought to be used to it by this time, but we suspect that it would feel better if Judge Landis were not on the job.

From the Syracuse Herald.
There is at least one part of J. Ogden Armour's statement concerning the action of that federal grand jury in Chicago the sincerity of which nobody can question. He said: "I deeply regret the bringing of these indictments."

From the Providence Evening Bulletin.
Perhaps the packers of Chicago will some day become tired of their meat. It may not ever come to them of their liberty, but it must be terrible to them, and besides there is no little profit in it for them. Even their indignity cannot decide any one of making it an excuse for raising the price of meat.

ABOUT FORTIFYING THE PANAMA CANAL.

From the Philadelphia Inquirer.
M. Philippe Bunau-Villars, who represented Panama in the negotiations for the transfer of the canal some to the United States, reported as saying that while Article 33 of the treaty authorizes the erection of fortifications in defense of the canal, they must not be erected in anticipation of the need. If it becomes necessary for the United States to protect the canal by military force, then, and not till then, it may proceed with such erection.

As Bunau-Villars is a man of intelligence it is difficult to believe that he has been correctly quoted. Modern fortifications cannot be improvised. Their construction is slow, laborious and expensive. It takes a lot of time, and if the United States is without the right to begin fortifying the canal until after war has been declared or is in sight, it possesses no right whatever in the premises of any practical value.

This, however, is not how Americans understand the situation. They consider that their control of the canal and of the canal zone is absolute and exclusive, and that they are entitled to fortify it as they please without asking for the advice or consent of any other nation. They are bearing the whole expense of building the canal and they have no idea of submitting to any dictation as to what they shall do with it when the vast work in which they are engaged shall have been completed.

As the canal is meant to serve a strategic purpose in enabling a rapid transfer of naval strength from one ocean to the other, public opinion logically favors the fortification, and therefore its fortification is likely to be effected. All nations will, of course, be admitted to its commercial use on equal terms, but the United States must be in a position to close the entrances at will.

UNCLE WALT.

The country's now in better case than 'twas in any age, for every man there is a place to earn a goodly wage; the poor man's lender's well supplied, against the winter's storms, so let us rip things open wide, and spring some new reforms. The merchant has within his till a good fat roll or two, the wheels are turning in the mill, and idle hands are few; the warehouse groans beneath its weight of costly box and bale, so let us get our gall on straight, and send some men to jail. The cities flourish and expand, all nature laughs and sings; prosperity's on every hand, and peace should spread its wings; but we shall all our time devote to this rip-snorting game, overlook the painting, while we note the flyspeck on the frame. There's something wrong when people thrive; there's something wrong, my friend, we want to see bad times arrive, and have the banks suspend, and see the mills all close their doors, and half the merchants fail; so let us fill the air with roars, and send some men to jail! WALT MASON.

'The Daily Chit Chat'

On every side I hear the sad news. It's spoken in the parlor. It's printed in the newspapers. It's shouted across back fences. I shouldn't wonder if it were even whispered in church.

What is it?

Why this, of course.

"They say hats are going to be bigger than ever this fall."

My countrywomen, if you really do wear bigger hats this winter than you have this summer, I'm ashamed of you.

Ashamed, and disappointed, and mighty nigh disgusted.

Right straight along I have been receiving letters asking me to write on this subject, but I thought the fashion had about spent its force, and then, as a certain friend of mine said: "Them as wants to wear such big hats will wear them anyway, and them as have some common sense don't need to be told not to."

But with this sad news continually assailing my ears, futile or not futile, I simply must register some protest.

In a very crowded car the other day, I saw a woman with one of those enormous hats on, repeatedly buffet a man's face and mouth with the back of the brim. After standing it for a few minutes he suddenly opened his mouth, and to the immense amusement of the crowd began to bite the brim.

The girl turned around, grasped the situation, grew fiery red, and threw a withering glance at the man.

The crowd roared with laughter at her discomfiture. I don't blame them or the man a bit. I trust it taught her a good lesson, although I doubt it, and I could almost find it in my heart to wish that all men who are treated that way would retaliate in a similar fashion.

If hats are really to be larger instead of smaller this winter, I think the matter has gone beyond the point of a joke.

It is twice as uncomfortable to travel in a crowded car or train as it used to be, because these ultra hats keep us all wretchedly crooking our necks to keep out of the way.

In church and in all auditoriums where women are not obliged to remove their hats, and at outdoor performances, the comfort and pleasure of other people is continually being spoiled by these ladies—no, ladies or women is altogether too good a name for them, I think I'll call them "creatures"—who cheerfully block the view with hats that take up three or four times the room of an ordinary head.

Do you know what they say about the American woman in Paris? "Oh, she'll wear anything. She has no taste. The more absurd and outlandish and inartistic a thing is, the better she likes it."

And so they send along the dictum that hats are to be bigger than ever this winter and we slavishly obey.

Or shall we surprise them, and showing some thought for common sense and taste and courtesy, revolt from the dictum and say: "No, hats aren't to be bigger. They are to be decidedly smaller."

What do you say, American women?

LIFE LINES

A NEW PHILOSOPHY IN LIVING

There is not anywhere anything real that is not eternal; nothing that just happens ever helps a man to heaven—truth never changes and is eternal.

Why shed tears, for they are of no avail when opportunity has been wasted, if your will is still undaunted and your conscience be not haunted you will yet arrive if you only strive.

Don't let the thought of fear (which is the devil speaking in your ear) either clog or dog you; stage fright but not the player of his right to his perfect personality.

Why should you prize your pedigree which has been left to you only for safe-keeping? You cannot become an "laser" by peddling about degrees bequeathed to you by former generations.

Most of man's misery comes from either too much money or else too little of the latter: it's after death that man's money as well as his reputation is most prized.

Drink deep at the fountain of pure air and pure water and good health will in you glow as never before in your life you have been privileged to know.

Each truth that is picked up on the pathway of life is but the fresh scent of more truth to be found further along the road. Truth, like the talent when put to work, multiplies.

Faith is faith and more for it sees all the facts under all the fallacies that are forthcoming; man expects the best and that's why he puts the best into his work.

Present pain and punishment some think purchased for them in perpetual paradise in the regions of the skies. If pain to body and soul don't bring peace to you now it won't in the hereafter.

leadership of Professor William Truitt Foster, recalls other examples of American educational institutions which have been built around ample endowments. While there is none, perhaps, so entirely made-to-order as Reed college will be, Trinity college at Durham, N. C., furnishes a somewhat parallel case, in that the old basis of a poverty stricken Methodist Episcopal school was practically of no financial importance, when the new patrons began to pour money into the treasury a dozen or more years ago.

The tobacco manufacturing family of Dukes, in Durham, caused Trinity college to be transplanted from a country town to the tobacco center, and there, practically under the walls of a great cigarette factory, has been built a totally new Trinity, with ample funds, talented professors, and elaborate laboratory equipment. The president, who has been the Duke's educational leader, is the Rev. Dr. John C. Wilgo. Trinity now has about 475 students and nearly 40 members of the faculty. In proportion to its members, it is the best endowed college in the south and one of the wealthiest anywhere, and the money continues to come in as fast as it is needed.

GO SETTLEMENTS ARE MADE ON ACACIA ORE

J. Pettus Surrenders Lease on Anchoria Leland Property Four Brothers Claim Active.

Special to The Gazette.

RIFFLE CREEK, Colo., Sept. 29.—A sum of $300 in royalties has been paid since the first of September the treasurer of the Acacia Gold Mining company, from shipments made by lessees and the amount will be the treasurer of the Acacia Gold Mining company.

The heaviest producing lease is that owned by Bunch and McNamee on old Burns shaft. These lessees are at the rate of $16 and $18 a ton, respectively. This is the lowest grade of ore to date, the two cars shipped last week bringing settlement at the rate of $26 to the ton. The Southwestern Mining company is making it production, while conducting prospect work at the 1,000 and 1,100 levels of the company's workings, a leasing company has prosecuted development on leased ground in any other corporation operating this district.

Lease Forfeited.

The lease on the property of the Anchoria-Leland Gold Mining company held by Frank J. Pettus has been surrendered and the resident manager of the company, Earl Howitt, has taken charge. A number of applications have been filed and blocks of the property have already been leased out. The City View owned by the company, leased to Ben and Fackler, will shortly re-enter the shipping ranks.

Agnes Gold Mining Company.

The Agnes Gold Mining company's lease on the property of the Anchoria-Leland Gold Mining company is again active. The property is under lease to an American corporation, the Iowa Mining & Leasing company for a four-year term, and under the lease conditions, the company is required to sink the shaft to its present depth of 450 feet to the 750-foot point. At this point a crosscut will be carried out to the northern extension of the old vein system.

St. Thomas Lenses Saving Ore.

Paul Wilson, lessee on the St. Thomas, has opened up a new vein at the property at a depth of about 100 feet from the surface, and is piling ore from the shaft tunnel that will pay at about one-half ounce gold to the ton. Wilson has commenced to sink on the vein and an electric hoist is installed.

OIL AT FALCON

We are determined to prove that there is oil in the Falcon field, as we have had the benefit of the best expert advice to the effect that it exists there in PAYING QUANTITIES.

We have proved our faith in this enterprise by putting up our own money and devoting our time to this development. In the process of the work we have had natural gas and sufficient oil to convince us that the investment of the thousands of dollars which we have made is

ABSOLUTELY SOUND

Our well is now down 765 feet, and we are preparing to complete it as rapidly as possible. In order to do this, and at the same time to lighten the burden of cost, we have decided to offer for sale 25,000 shares of our stock at 25c per share, the proceeds of which we will use only for development. Our capitalization is only 100,000 shares, and we have about 7,000 acres leased. The bringing in of this well will make this stock

WORTH AT LEAST ONE DOLLAR PER SHARE

and, as we will drill at least 50 feet per day from now on, we are reasonably sure to have

OIL IN 30 DAYS

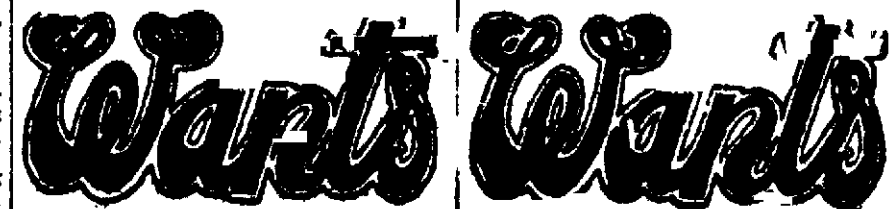

Think of what this means to our stockholders, and, as this offer will remain open for this week only, make your investment

NOW

No less than 100 shares will be sold to anyone. Our books are open for your inspection. For further information address

GETS WRIT NE EXEAT

Following a divorce complaint filed in the district court yesterday by Mrs. M. Bates, a writ of ne exeat was granted by Judge Sneed to restrain the husband, Bert S. Bates, from leaving the state before the case comes to trial. Bates furnished bond to the amount of $2,000 to remain in Colorado pending the proceedings.
Mrs. Bates alleges extreme and revolting acts of cruelty and asks that the court award her the care of her two minor children and alimony. The couple were married in Colorado City in 1911. Bates is a conductor on the Colorado Midland.

A Word of Praise
"The finest grocery west of Detroit," said a traveling man to one of our patrons. Perhaps this man of the road was a little too enthusiastic. However, we assume no false pride in bringing to your notice the predominant idea of the Burgess store. SANTARY CLEANLINESS. Everything under cover and protected from dust and germs. Only pure food of the highest standard is good enough for the "Burgess trade"—that means you. And after all, the cost is less in the long run.
